

ANTI-CHOICE PROJECT

making abortion impossible to ignore or trivialize

Dear Friend of the Anti-Choice Project,

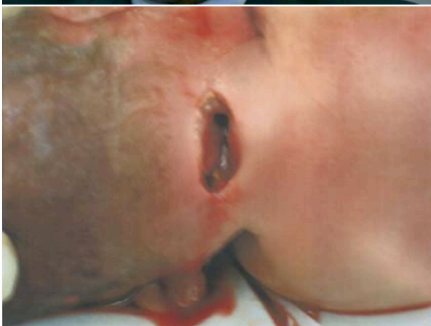

Spring is here and that means Anti-Choice Project chapters are planting themselves at the busiest intersections and public areas in their hometowns to prove with photographic evidence the horror of abortion to their complacent neighbors.

GOSNELL TRIAL DEMONSTRATES MAGNITUDE OF ABORTION COVER-UP

The magnitude of the abortion cover-up by our national press was made painfully clear with the discovery that Dr. Kermit Gosnell has been running an abortion mill in which babies need not remain unborn to be murdered. As you probably know, Gosnell — whose abortion clinic has been described by investigators as a “house of horrors” — is being charged with first-degree murder for snipping the spinal cords of seven newborn infants. Among other crimes, he has also been charged with third-degree murder of Karnamaya Mongar, who died during an abortion procedure at Gosnell’s “Women’s Medical Society” clinic in 2010.

ACP Bremerton resumed their bi-weekly protests in Kitsap County this April. Pictured: Tom Herring, ACP Co-Director.

Until very recently there was a total blackout of this story by the mainstream media, which only began running stories under intense public pressure and outcry.

As Rep. Steve Scalise (R, Louisiana) pointed out, “If someone went into a hospital and shot seven babies and a mother with an AK-47, the media coverage surrounding the trial would rival a natural disaster.”

Some in the media went so far as to admit to consciously ignoring the trial in their reporting. As reported by LifeSiteNews.com on April 17, 2013, left-wing media commentator Marc Lamont Hill said, “For what it’s worth, I do think that those of us on the left have made a decision not to cover this trial because we worry that it’ll compromise abortion rights. Whether you agree with abortion or not, I do think there’s a direct connection between the media’s failure to cover this and our own political commitments on the left.”

During an interview on the Today Show, which aired the same day that Mr. Hill made his admission, President Obama was asked directly about this slaughter of innocent, born babies by Dr. Gosnell. The president responded by saying, “I can’t comment on it because it’s an active trial.” It is a curious reason to cite, considering President Obama had no problem offering unsolicited comments during an investigation in March of 2012 involving the shooting death of one Trayvon Martin. Nor did he hesitate to condemn the Cambridge Police in the arrest of Harvard University professor Henry Louis Gates, Jr., when he called their actions “stupid” during a press conference in July of 2009.

We in the pro-life movement have long known about the media cover-up of abortion and abortion providers like Planned Parenthood and Kermit Gosnell. Unlike the Civil Rights Movement, where reporters and camera crews descended on the South and the streets of Birmingham to expose to the nation the fire hoses and police dogs being turned on innocent blacks; and unlike the photos printed daily by the New York Times and the Associated Press of flag-draped coffins, body bags, and Iraqi children wounded or killed by U.S. troops, there are no headlines and no stories about the babies killed by abortion — much less pictures of their bodies — run by any of the major news agencies.

Consider the controversy and effort made decades ago by the media to change public opinion in this country about the right of blacks to vote and to drink from the same water fountains as whites. Consider the intensity of the turmoil stirred up by the publishing of disturbing war images, a prerequisite to ending the Vietnam War. Friends, we are fighting a culture war of far greater magnitude, and yet without the aid of the press.

Volunteers for our ACP Missoula chapter expose abortion in the frigid cold outside a local abortion clinic in early February.

Unlike other movements of social reform, for more than 40 years the media has sided with the oppressors rather than the victims of abortion. They will run not one image depicting the injustice of abortion. That task is left to us. That task is left to you.

To pro-life veterans, the media's cover-up of the Gosnell trial is no surprise. And to pro-life veterans, the fact that Gosnell is on trial for snipped spinal cords of seven newborn babies is no less outrageous than the fact that he tore limbs off of countless other babies while they were still in their mothers' wombs. The reality is that there is a "house of horrors" a few miles down the road from each one of us. And our pictures are the only thing bringing that truth to light. A reality which is no less horrifying than what Gosnell is now under trial for.

Dr. Gosnell killing babies born alive in Pennsylvania; Adam Lanza shooting kindergarteners in Connecticut; doctors legally euthanizing patients in Oregon, Washington, and Montana; the Tsarnaev brothers setting off bombs at the Boston Marathon: none of these things should surprise us. As Mother Teresa once put it, "If a mother can kill her own child, what is left but for us to kill each other?"

NEW ACP CHAPTER IN CHARLOTTE, NORTH CAROLINA

In 2009 the ACP began in Bremerton, WA and now, just over four years later, we are very excited to announce our seventh ACP chapter, which will be in Charlotte, North Carolina, and headed up by Seth Williams! Seth has been involved in the pro-life movement for a number of years working directly with North Carolina Right to Life, and he is now going to be courageously and effectively persuading other residents in Charlotte that killing a baby is a bad choice by showing them what abortion looks like.

With newly added chapters in Visalia, Lincoln, and now Charlotte, 2013 is poised to be a big year for exposing abortion in America. We thank you for your continued support!

Sincerely Yours,

Tom Herring
